NEW BAND from MEMBERS of DOOMSDAY STUDENT ALL LEATHER, HOT NERDS and ARAB ON RADAR LOUD AS LAUGHTER

"Loud As Laughter" is a thrashing, wild beast of a track - frightening in its intensity (think Arab on Radar meets Throbbing Gristle). Listening to it brings back memories of an episode of Soviet-era cartoon Nu Pogodi - the one where the main character ends up in a rocket and is shaken in a violent simulation of an astronaut's experience... There's a reason why it hits so hard - Psychic Graveyard (led by ex-AoR / current Doomsday Student Eric Paul) features the noise rock scene's creme de la creme in its ranks.
 - I HEART NOISE (from the streaming premiere of the album's title track)

BREAKING: "The recently formed four-piece will tour the UK and Europe in support of "Loud As Laughter".
 - THE QUIETUS (from the streaming premiere of LIARS' "Loud As Laughter remix")

Noise Rock pioneers, Eric Paul (Arab On Radar, Chinese Stars, Doomsday Student), Paul Vieira (The Chinese Stars, Doomsday Student), and Nathan Joyner (Some Girls, All Leather, Hot Nerds) venture through uncharted territory with their new band, Psychic Graveyard. Following the release of their debut single "Dead In Different Places" (b/w with a radical reinterpretation of the A-Side by the illustrious Dance-Punk, Electro-House duo MSTRKRFT) and the single release of the album's title track (paired with a remix by Mute Records' LIARS), Psychic Graveyard's debut full length "Loud As Laughter" exemplifies the raw tapestry of sounds that characterize the new endeavor. Nathan Joyner's grinding synths and "found sound" buries the seed of each song deep into the fertile ground - while Paul Vieira's manic, fuzzed-out guitars and Eric Paul's obsessive lyrics shower the proceedings with equal parts sunshine and rain.

According to the band, the songwriting process was unusual for them. Throughout 2018, San Diego-based Joyner would send files filled with the skeletons of songs to Vieira and Paul in Providence, Rhode Island. The two would add their parts, and then the songs would undergo an arduous, back and forth until all of the members agreed on the final version. The distance of the members and the anomalous approach to writing resulted in a diverse, yet coherent album that picks-up and drops-off the listener at dramatically different places. Like nerve endings spliced and sewn back together, the process spawned a whole new auditory system - which serves as the infrastructure for Psychic Graveyard.

The band made their live debut with tour of the East Coast in March, and Psychic Graveyard will tour both Europe and North America in support of "Loud As Laughter".
