

It's time to self-medicate.

Two doses.

Two bands.

Two labels.

One LP.

The "in-name only" United States and Kingdom's divisions are more raw and splintered than ever before. And it's from this place of division that the USA's PSYCHIC GRAVEYARD and SKIN GRAFT Records have joined with the UK's USA NAILS and BOX Records to form "Split".

Having been remixed by the likes of MSTRKRFT, LIARS and SECRET FUN CLUB, Psychic Graveyard are no strangers to collaboration. Here they determinedly ease layer upon cacophonous layer to their methodically set stage before burning it to the ground. As with their previous full lengths, the songs were recorded with Seth Manchester at Machines With Magnets in Pawtucket.

The six cuts served up by slabby noise-rock / angular post-punk / dissonant no-wave cognoscenti USA Nails feature notes that work, notes that don't work, wonky out of tune ping-pong guitars, dumb business riffs, and shitty guitar solos while musing over clinically medicated anxiety, internet commentators and Orwellian data practices. Although he didn't realize it at the time, drummer Tom Brewins broke his arm just before the band recorded with Wayne Adams at Bear Bites Horse in London.

He got better, but maybe the rest of us won't.

PSYCHIC GRAVEYARD & USA NAILS

STREET DATE: APRIL 1ST, 2022

PSYCHIC GRAVEYARD PRESS CLIPPINGS

Deranged genius from former members of Arab on Radar and Some Girls."

- REVOLVER Magazine

(On Eric Paul's lyrical invention) "This guy's solipsistic... his mind orbiting another planet- the mix unevenly doubling his inner monologues. Synth player Nathan Joyner, guitarist Paul Vieira, and drummer Charles Overtt all up the psychodrama by savage degrees, leading off with a grinding, foghorn dirge that eventually expands into a punishing industrial hailstorm." - SPIN

"If the music itself isn't in retreat from society, then society backs away from it." - The WIRE

USA NAILS PRESS CLIPPINGS

"...have proven themselves a raucous, abrasive, and scathing band - difficult to pigeonhole into a single genre. There is something about USA Nails that feels super British. Not in a pompous, patriotic way - it's more how the band capture a sense the mundane and the monotonous and make it feel biting nasty." - DISTORTED SOUND

"A mix of Drive Like Jehu headbangers, nods to psychedelia and a throttling of hardcore (that takes on ) a red-eyed life of its own; roadworn and irritated, its rabid face pressed against the glass." - The SKINNY MAGAZINE

"Heavy, crushing, and aggressive."

- The NEEDLE DROP
